

Marlin PR specialises in public relations for companies that lead technological change or take advantage of new communication platforms to better serve businesses and consumers.

At Marlin PR, we are passionate about technology, communication, culture and brands and so are our clients. We are a team whose insights, ideas and forward thinking approach helps technology, media and entertainment companies fulfil their growth strategy by establishing and maintaining meaningful dialogue with key stakeholders and industry influencers.

Marlin PR champions PR as a critical business tool and delivers engaging, practical, results-driven PR campaigns.